THE ANDREAN

Volume 35, Number 2 Fall 1991

Publishing The Andrean is an interesting challenge. We are often reminded that we must appeal to a diverse group of readers - representative of all walks of life - and of all ages from "18 to 100".

In this issue we feature the business careers of two Andrean entrepreneurs: 90-year-old Shannon Clift '20 and 23-year-old Peter Neal '86.

We appreciate the flow of correspondence, story leads and photos from our alumni and friends - keep it up!

On the cover...

Andreans of all ages will recognize the Prize Day scene on our cover. The photograph was taken by Richard Allan of Aurora who has covered Prize Day for us for many years.

Highlights... of the Fall and Winter terms are listed on page 48 and on the Inside Back Cover.

The Andrean is published by the St. Andrew's College Association for Old Boys, parents, past parents and friends of the school.

The Future Reflects the Past

St. Andrew's has started to receive many items for our Archives. The gifts range from a red School blazer circa 1940 to early 1920's School pins, from a 1900-01 School cap to a 1927 Cadet Corps photograph. We appreciate the response to our requests published here in The Andean. Old Boys, parents of alumni and friends of the School have all helped. We thank you!

Renovations have started in the basement of Dunlap Hall on a new home for the S.A.C. Archives. It will satisfy our needs with a main room of 800 square feet and an additional storage area of 340 square feet. When completed, there will be ample space for display, restoration and storage. Part of the funding for this project was provided by 'unrestricted' gifts from the Old Boys' Annual Giving Program.

The Review, our yearbook, of course provides an outstanding history of the School year by year. However, in the early years, from 1899 to the late 1930's, not much in the way of photography was evident, or at least published. As a result, the arts area of our collection is particularly weak. We need photographs of plays and musicals, especially cast photographs.

Some years ago the sports photos were moved from Dunlap Hall to the new Athletic Building. We have displayed a complete set of first team photos dating from 1899, and would like a complete set in the Archives. Can you help? Our needs include younger teams as well, including Macdonald House teams.

Identification, if possible, of the date and of the participants is a key element. Many of the photographs published in the early years bear no identification at all! It would be very beneficial if we could have a separate sheet of paper with as much information about the photo as possible, including the approximate or actual date. Douglas Worling, who attended St. Andrew's from 1940-50, is organizing our collection. We encourage interested Old Boys and friends to share their history with us.

Many of the school's strengths come from time-proven traditions. It is our hope that in bridging the links to the past we will continue to build for a bright future.

Prize Day

Headmaster Bedard congratulates Brock Whalley on his graduation from St. Andrew's. Brock won the Errington Award for distinguished contribution to life at St. Andrew's, and is a year rep for the class of '91. Mr. Bedard marked the completion of his tenth year as Headmaster, with the following address:

Chief Justice, Mr. Chairman, Members of the Board of Governors, colleagues, parents, students and friends of the school:

Even though this particular 'rite of spring' is seemingly focused upon the graduating class, perhaps those who really merit the highest accolades are the parents. Many sacrifices have been made: you have parted with your son if he is a boarder; you may have deprived yourself financially; most likely, you have done an extraordinary amount of driving; and, certainly, you have fretted and worried. I only have to relive the graduation ceremony of my last son to thrill at the sense of release from years of anxiety and fiscal servitude.

Congratulations and thanks are in order to the Faculty who are currently launching upon unsuspecting universities a horde of young men who came to us as virtual barbaric little nippers, who remained such for a seemingly unendurable span of years, but who, through some last minute and glorious change, are suddenly young men of whom we can all be proud.

At this time, I would like to express my gratitude to the Board of Governors and its committees who work silently in the background. Without their loyalty, sound judgment and global understanding of the issues of this school which they all love, this event would be a shallow exercise, indeed. Peter Harris has been the Chairman of this Board for the past twelve years, and his generous giving of time and wise counsel have been invaluable to me and to all.

of our support staff, Howard Tetlock administers the finances of this institution and oversees its structural upkeep in a most skilful manner and, incidentally, not without considerable wit.

Jim Herder, our Director of Development, continues to unite the school community far beyond the confines of this beautiful setting. He is the pillar of the Old Boys' Association, ably headed by John Houser, and the liaison with our extended family. We count heavily on his mammoth endeavours and successes.

A special thanks to Mary Worry and the mothers of the Ladies' Guild for their generous efforts, which, this year, included scholarship grants, improvements in the foyer of the Great Hall and the planning and creation of the new and attractive S.A.C. store located below the dining room.

Our students, some 600 local senior citizens, and many of our parents and friends were treated to a banner year in Dramatics. A total of nine plays, including three full-length productions, evidenced a wealth of talent under the superb direction of William Scoular, Lee Clements and John Clements. During Focus, the recent Art Festival, many performances were noteworthy: may I underline the demanding roles of Scott Armstrong, Scott Mahaffy and Brock Whalley. In the same context, the art pieces displayed by, among others, Mr. Paolini, Alex Boothby and Mark Glazer, confirmed the presence of true artistry within the confines of the College.

Debating

Fifty-five boys participated in nineteen separate debating events across the country this year. Our debaters secured prizes at each of the three independent schools'

Prize Day

Fulford Debates as well as top honours in the regional bilingual category. An encouraging development was the emergence of a group of strong novice debaters who are currently being mentored by seniors. If technique, discipline and intelligence parallel enthusiasm, a brilliant future is in store.

Association President John Housser '68, right, makes a presentation to Colonel Fred Tilston to mark Fred's retirement as a member of the Association Council.

Computers

Much time and space have been devoted to our computer networking. By September, we will have fulfilled our promise of having computer capability in every room, including the upper school boys' rooms and the masters' residences. Moreover, with the addition of a modem, each student, when at home, will have access to an ever-growing wealth of information.

Video

While on the subject of technology, this past autumn, a video of the school was produced. It is titled "A Day at St. Andrew's". I trust that most of you have had an opportunity to view this sensitive and honest portrayal of a day in the life of the School.

Sports

Once again, we had our fair share of success on the sports fields. Two major championships and a tie for first place were earned at the First Team level. We were outright ISAA champions in both Basketball and Track and Field, and shared the top echelon in Cricket, a position that had eluded us for some 13 years. Perhaps it would be appropriate to mention the outstanding performances of Carlos del Pino in basketball, of Paul Lau, David and Ian Michael in Track, and of Jamie Douglas in Cricket.

At this point, I should like to commend the large number of boys who gave their 'heart and soul' on the playing fields, the arenas, the courts, the tracks, the hills, the parade grounds and in the gymnasium and in the swimming pool.

Departures & Appointments

With two exceptions, the changes in personnel anticipated for next September, can be considered in-house.

After a 35-year career in teaching, the last 18 of which were spent at St. Andrew's, Mr. Robert Jones is taking a well-earned retirement. Bob's versatility was of value to the Music, Physical Education and Social Science departments. But it was his involvement in community service that placed him in a special category: Bob introduced many of our students to volunteer work within the community. We shall miss his kindness and his enthusiasm, and we wish him a healthy and productive retirement.

Mr. Cliff Ilton is presently polishing his golf game and his fishing skills, having terminated a 30-year career at St. Andrew's in March of this year. We pay homage to Cliff and to his wife, Ivy, for attempting to keep all things mechanical in good repair, and this includes our unpredictable steam heating system and the miles of piping that criss-cross our campus.

Mr. Peter Robinson, Housemaster of Sifton House these past four years, will continue to ply us with his expertise and humour in the classroom and on the playing fields, but he is relinquishing this most important position to Mr. Steve Kimmerer.

Barry Black '56, a member of the Board of Governors of St. Andrew's, presents the Craig Mitchell Memorial Prize to Jamie Inglis, son of Derek and Bettyne Inglis. The Craig Mitchell prize was given to the School in 1990 to honour distinguished academic and athletic accomplishment by a graduating student.

Prize Day

May I publicly thank Mr. Robinson, and may I thank him in the name of the boys of Sifton House who truly loved their mentor.

Bowing to the demands of the school yearbook, the Bulletin Board, the Pipe Band, and the many other innovations he has fostered in computer networking, Mr. Steve Treasure is retiring as Housemaster of Ramsey House. To Mr. Treasure, a heartfelt thank you, and a warm welcome to Mr. Stuart Swan who will replace him.

We welcome in our midst this afternoon, Miriam Shropshire, who was the school secretary for nine years. This is the first opportunity that I have had to thank Miriam publicly for her devoted service to the School.

Graduates

So goes the Grade 13 class, so goes the year, and you were a great class. So now to you the subject and object of this auspicious occasion, the graduates of the Class of 1991. I assume, naturally, that all of you have developed that important skill obtainable only through the school regime, the ability to sleep with your eyes open. But for just a few moments, I ask that you not practice what you have learned so well.

I resort to Shakespeare here because I want to talk about the kind of truths that he best conveys. A theme that runs through Shakespeare's plays, from As You Like It to King Lear, is of people being lost in a strange place, and after confusion, contradiction and effort, finding their real selves. In other words, those who search and work diligently and honestly, will find themselves.

The man who finds himself does not sit around all day polishing his medals and admiring his own reflection in the mirror, but he is someone in search of the truth, who has to take risks, make mistakes and, above all, work hard — there are no short cuts. While others stay at home in search of happiness looking for easy answers and surrendering to the desire to win the approval of society, the hero diligently follows the task set him by life, and in so doing, grows into the fullness of his being.

In The Wizard of Oz, Dorothy, the Tinman, the Cowardly Lion and the Scarecrow all set off to find the Wizard who will give them the solution to all their problems, and change them into what they want to be. When they finally reach the Wizard after many trials and tribulations, they discover that he's just a little bald man with a wrinkled face and problems of his own. But they also discover that the very search for him, the quest, has affected the sought after changes in them. Insofar as Dorothy and her friends receive their heart's desire — the Tinman a heart, the Lion courage, the Scarecrow a brain and Dorothy a way to get home — it's essentially a do-it-yourself operation. They had the answers within themselves all the time. The message is that the most important thing is to have faith in ourselves.

I hope that you, the graduating class of 1991, will carry with you a belief in yourselves that will go on to make an imprint on your world, even as St. Andrew's has made its imprint on you. If that is so, you will bring new lustre to Andrew's name, even as St. Andrew's adds its old lustre to you.

The MacPherson Tournament

A Proud Hockey History

St. Andrew's College has a proud hockey history dating back to its first season, 1899-1900. Highlights in recent years have been two All-Ontario High School championships in 1982 and 1987. The All-Ontario (O.F.S.A.A.) championship began in 1948 and in the history of the "play-offs" only one independent school has ever emerged with the gold medal — S.A.C.

For readers of The Andean who are perhaps more familiar with the days when we competed only with the other "L.B.F." schools ... times have changed!

The first hockey team now competes in York Region, and if the team is successful in winning the region, it advances to the Durham-York playdowns and a berth in the All-Ontarios. The Durham Region includes the City of Oshawa and environs, so St. Andrew's with its small student population, is challenged, to say the least.

In 1984 the school felt that it would host a first-class invitational tournament. Over the eight tournaments held to date we have entertained some of the finest high school teams in Canada and the United States.

The 1991 MacPherson Tournament winner, St. Charles Cardinals of Sudbury, also won the Provincial Championship in March. In the S.A.C. tournament, the Cardinals defeated Nichols School of Buffalo, the number three ranked team in the U.S. 2-0, with the second goal being scored into an empty net in the final minute.

The three people whose names are closely associated with the Tournament, the late Lloyd C. MacPherson, Judge Robert Meagher and the late Jim

R. Alan Eagleson (left) was guest speaker at the annual MacPherson Tournament in February 1991. Matthew Chisholm, Captain of the Saints, proudly displays the Yuill award presented to the captain each year by W.H. (Bill) Yuill (right). Hamilton, are all strong representatives of the School and of hockey. All three men have had a long history of outstanding service and dedication to St. Andrew's College. In addition they have all been keen hockey fans, doing their best to support their favourite sport. Thus, the tournament is viewed as a celebration of excellence and dedication, noble ideals for all schools, coaches and athletes.

The tournament was created in the hopes of demonstrating to a larger outside community that high school hockey is a viable alternative for young players. With its emphasis on teamwork, sportsmanship and education, players are given an opportunity to play quality hockey while attending schools with high academic standards. This basis provides players with the opportunity of playing at a University level while at the same time acquiring a college education.

One of the highlights for all of the players is the banquet held on the Friday after the first round-robin games. The luncheon is held in the Great Hall at St. Andrew's. In recent years we have been most fortunate in having as our guest speakers for the event: Al Shaver '47, the voice of the Minnesota North Stars, retired N.H.L. greats Darryl Sittler and Ken Dryden and the President of the N.H.L. Players' Association, Alan Eagleson.

A Proud Hockey History

Harry Watson

Harry Watson

"Harry (Squirt) Watson is probably the best hockey player the School ever turned out," heralded the Easter 1915 Review. While today's debate would rage about the 'best ever', it is true that Harry Watson was a phenomenal hockey player.

Born in Newfoundland, his family moved to Winnipeg when he was a child and it was here that he strapped on his first pair of skates. During his first year at S.A.C. in 1915, he played the position of 'Rover' on the First Team and, at the age of 16 was chosen an All-Star on both the Senior and Junior teams. The second year he was chosen Captain of the First Team and moved to the position of centre. That year the S.A.C. Firsts were the O.H.A. group winners and Harry was a driving force on the team. He was an excellent skater, a dazzling stick handler, had unlimited endurance and a knack of putting the puck in the net.

In addition to hockey, Harry starred as a half-back on the rugby team and was a scholar.

After serving four years in the First World War, Harry returned to play hockey for the Toronto Granites. People said he might be a little stale after the layoff but while he was a member of the team, the Granites won the O.H.A. three out of four years and the Allan Cup once. In 1923 the Granites were the Senior O.H.A. Champions and went on to win the Dominion Championship. That year Harry was the top goal scorer in the league.

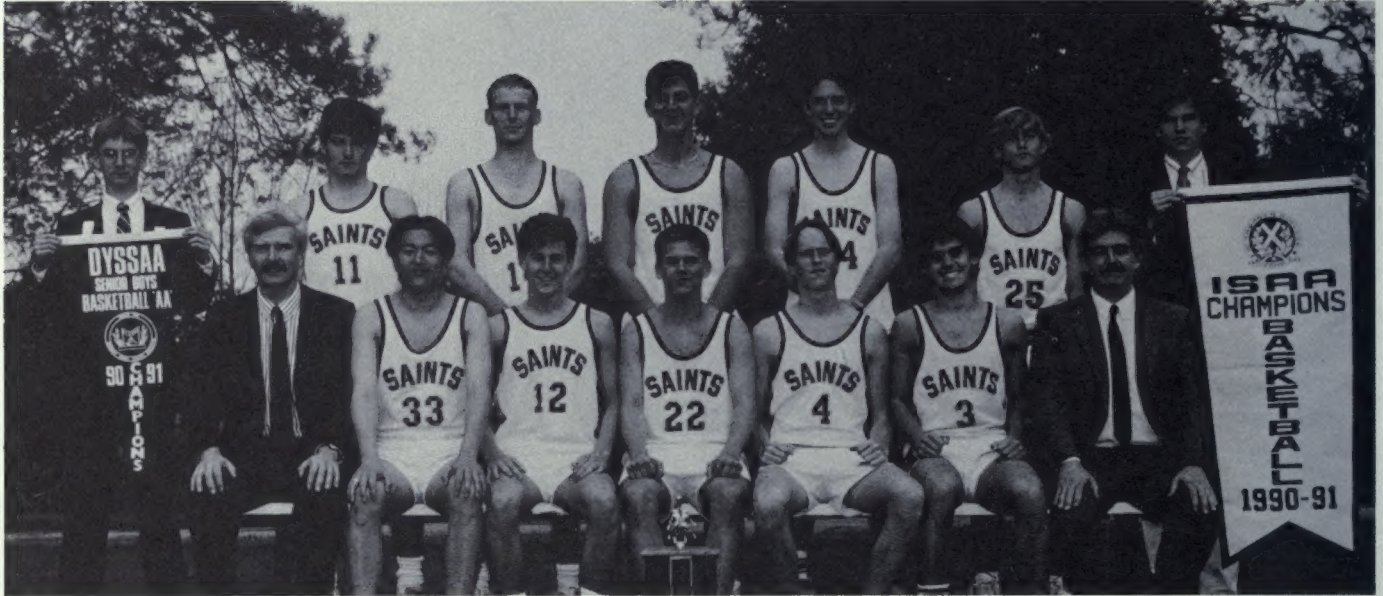

The following year 1924 Harry played for the Canadian Olympic Hockey Team which won the World Championship. Also on that team was another S.A.C. Old Boy, Jack Archibald Cameron, who played in goal.

During the following two years, Harry Watson found time to return to St. Andrew's to coach First Hockey. Both teams he coached reached the semi-finals of the O.H.A.

For the rest of his life Harry Watson took a keen interest in St. Andrew's holding several positions in the Old Boys' Association. He died September 10th, 1957, in London, Ontario.

THE BULLETIN

Official Publication of
THE ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE OLD BOYS' ASSOCIATION

PRICE NO CENTS

DECEMBER 1922.

HERE'S The Bulletin. The first issue of an organ intended to keep Old Boys in touch with the affairs of Old Boys and to acquaint all with every item of general interest. It is edited by Old Boys, and it is the property of all Old Boys. When the idea cropped up—the product of Ed. Burr's fertile brain—our friend Clark Acton, being amongst those present, promptly said, 'I would like to be responsible for producing thoroughbred paper and be glad to contribute this to the Old Boys' Association. Next year some other Old Boy can take it on, there are several others in this line of business, and in this way we can keep the Bulletin going without a bit of trouble.' Said we, 'So be it'. And so this is the start. We felt his words were all real sense, so we grabbed our stub of a pencil and set to. But the real substantial part of the thing that matters most is this. We must have material to print. And it depends upon how much material we get, whether the paper is small or large, and also the frequency of publication—whether it appears once in six months, once in three months or not again at all. At present we think of a quarterly. What think you? Can you send a bit of stuff suitable for insertion? Now crops up the literary world—is suitable stuff? Well, just what our position will be in the literary world we are not able to say. We are not the Calgary Eye opener nor Jack Canuck. So let it go at that, and we are in earnest, and we are eager to make this Bulletin successful.

Later on, doubtlessly the Newsprint Association or the Round Table will put us in our rightful place and there we may or may not stay. The columns are wide open, and we solicit your contributions. There is no need to show any hesitation. We will use all that we possibly can, and gladly. Especially do we want to hear of our Old Boys' activities. Elsewhere in The Bulletin you will find a printed form for this use. It will take only a moment to fill in and mail.

And once more, may we say that the success of this organ depends upon how much you are willing to help by sending us all that you think is of interest. So 'Allez vous à lui, MAINTENANT!

69 years ago, in December 1922, St. Andrew's College Old Boys' Association published its first magazine, The Bulletin. "We started in on the proposition of insuring in favour of the School, the life of every Old Boy". The scheme was to raise money to move the School from Rosedale to York Mills. "Your Association wants to hear from you. There is no need to show hesitation. We will use all that we possibly can, and gladly. Especially do we want to hear of our Old Boys' activities."

Shannon Clift '20

Shannon was captain of First Cricket in 1920 (centre of middle row).

1949 was probably the largest blow to the Company. "Once Confederation came, the duties on imports remained, but to mainland Canada trade was free. This meant many companies in Newfoundland had a hard time competing." Because of Confederation the Company had to find a new line and in 1958 T.B. Clift Limited

Shannon Clift, a hale and hearty 90 years old, has celebrated his 71th anniversary with the family business, T.B. Clift Limited of St. John's, Newfoundland.

Shannon attended St. Andrew's College during the early days when it was located in Rosedale. He was both a scholar and athlete. He won First or Second General Proficiency and First Class Honours in the three years he was at the School from 1918-20. During his final year, Shannon was a prefect, the sports editor of the Review, on the Coin Committee, Soccer Committee, Secretary of The Athletic Association, a non-commissioned officer in the Cadet Corps, played on the Second Rugby Team and was the Captain of the First Cricket team.

Upon graduation from St. Andrew's, Shannon started work at his father's firm on August 2, 1920. His father, whose eyesight was failing, had wanted Shannon to attend university, but he took him into the business earlier than planned.

Shannon's first job was as a salesman at what was at the time a commission agency. "We took orders and the goods were shipped directly from the manufacturer or supplier to the customer."

The business was founded by his great-great-grandfather, James, in 1810 as an importing business. "In those days practically everything arrived in Newfoundland by schooner. This meant doing business on the wharf as was the custom at that time, dealing in cattle feed, potatoes, beef, vegetables and other commodities coming into St. John's harbour from all over the world".

Shannon spent his younger days walking the streets of St. John's, wearing out shoe leather, drumming up business. "I must have walked 20 miles a day and maybe that's why I made it to be this age", he said.

emerged as a medical supply company.

Today the business is owned by Shannon's son, Frank, who is the president and his grandson, Rick, who is the vice-president. Mr. Clift's middle son, Tom, owns Clift's Dental Supplies Ltd. and his oldest son, John, retired from the Company two years ago.

Shannon's only daughter Patricia is now Mrs. Chidley. His wife Kathleen died in 1974, and he has 19 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Peter Neal '86

Chris (left) and Peter Neal '86 with the latest food product of Neal Brothers.

Peter Neal '86 fits the role of the entrepreneur to perfection. During his university days at Bishop's University in Lennoxville, Quebec, Peter was searching for a career. With his brother Chris, they launched Croutons! Croutons!

They started making croutons at home in June 1988 as a summer job. The product caught on and the business has evolved into a full-time career. Working at home however had its limitations. Within weeks their mother's kitchen had become too small and the brothers, knowing they had a winning product, went searching for a home for their new croutons.

A local baker, Patrick Loughnane, offered them the use of his bakery (Old Mother Hubbard's Bun Factory) in Aurora, free of charge, until the brothers were firmly on their feet.

What makes the boys' croutons different? "The spices are baked right into the bread," said Chris, a Queen's University political science graduate. He added that all ingredients are natural, including the garlic oil and the dill that are used to liven up the salad decorations.

The brothers and their two employees keep clients – everybody from the Aurora Fruit Market to specialty food shops in Toronto – stocked with the all-natural, better-tasting croutons. Flavours available are garlic, parmesan cheese, Italian and sesame seed, plus the occasional special flavour, like dill.

The KISS Principle he learned from a Grade 12 business course at St. Andrew's College helped: "Keep It Simple, Stupid". Peter says he's the creative thinker while Chris keeps the books and does most of the delivering. "We just complement each other so well. We've never had a fight for more than five minutes. It's a rare thing for two brothers to get along so well."

Mom and Dad are "very good about the business, very excited about it," Peter adds. "We refused any money from our parents for the business. But they're very supportive because they let us live (at home) free."

The only financial help the brothers received was a $5,000 startup loan, negotiated through the Royal Bank, and guaranteed through a provincial entrepreneur's program. They repaid the loan a long time ago.

Earlier this year the brothers introduced natural Nachos to their product line. The boys are now finding the pace of business is hectic. They supply Quebec's Provigo supermarket chain and, with their client list growing almost on a daily basis, are getting used to working 18 hour days.

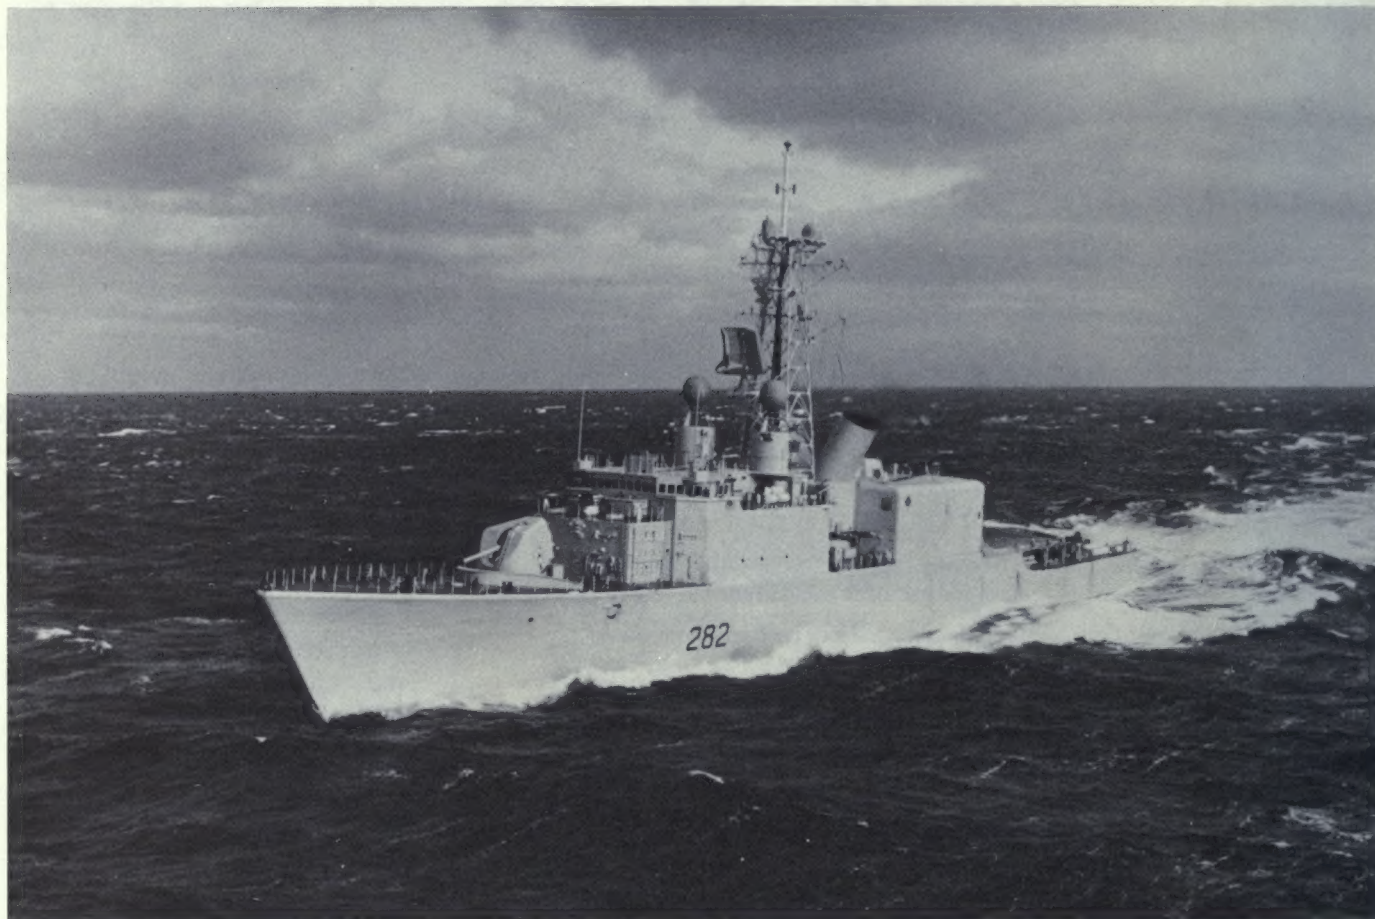

The Neals have been featured in articles in The Aurora Banner, The Toronto Star, The Toronto Sun and Youth Enterprise, the magazine of YMCA of Metropolitan Toronto.

"Established 1987" Neal Brothers supply fine foods to specialty stores and supermarkets throughout Ontario and Quebec.

Lt. (N) John van Nostrand '80

Lt. John van Nostrand '80 served aboard the HMCS ATHABASKAN (above) during the Persian Gulf War.

The first day back from Christmas vacation there was much talk of the convulsing world scene. War was imminent in the Persian Gulf. During morning break, coffee cup in hand, amid conversations about the worsening picture in the Gulf, I noticed a neat, single-spaced, hand-written letter from an Old Boy posted on the common room bulletin board. These appear every so often so its unique nature didn't seize me until, skimming through it, I caught the words: "H.M.C.S. Athabaskan", "Persian Gulf", and "John van Nostrand Lt.(N), Class of '80". I re-read the letter very carefully. The horrific events on the nightly news had suddenly become more immediate because it was clear that one of our own was in the middle of a very serious situation.

As a teacher of Canadian History and of World Politics (and as a closet Canadian Navy buff) this opportunity was simply too important to ignore. "What could be done to bring this to the classroom?", I thought. As always, the answer lay hidden in the past. During W.W.II, towns "adopted" entire ships' companies, providing them with hand knitting and other comforts of home. School children also contributed by making Christmas cards and by writing letters. This was it! Christmas had gone, but it was never too late to write Lt. van Nostrand a few dozen letters!

I copied John's letter to each student in my Grades 8 and 9 classes (each studying Canadian History) and included a picture of the Athabaskan III (a 280 "Tribal"

Old Boys in the News

Lt. (N) John van Nostrand '80

Class Destroyer) so they would be able to visualize John's surroundings. One enterprising lad dug up the 1980 Review, which contained John's grad photo. Being now well-equipped, the boys settled down to write two bundles of encouraging and friendly letters.

Many commented on the 30-mile wide sector patrolled by Athabaskan and that by December 6, she had already, "...hailed over 1000 ships and boarded eleven." They were curious as to what John's job was as part of a crew of a warship in a soon-to-be war zone and what life on board was like.

Events unfolded in early January and war was not averted. The night the air-assault began I was on duty in Mac House. Even the rigidly sacrosanct nature of the Mac House study didn't seem to prevent the dissemination of such important news. The atmosphere was full of apprehension and excitement. We thought about Lt. John van Nostrand.

It was a big day when a letter arrived bearing the coats of arms of the Canadian Armed Forces and of H.M.C.S. Athabaskan. The boys enjoyed John's eloquent response to their questions. He described his duty watch as a 12-hour one-in-two rotation and explained that as Assistant Combat Systems Engineering Officer he supervised the maintenance of weapons, radars, sonar, and communications systems. His ship, he described, was uniquely suited for its role in the Gulf because the sophistication of its equipment allowed it to direct the logistics support for all of the naval forces represented in the Gulf. One story told of Athabaskan arranging refuelling between a British tanker and an Argentinean frigate! Not a routine event.

After his return to his parents' home in Vandorf this past May, John was keen to meet the boys who had written to him in January. My students were delighted to finally see this young naval officer they had heard so much about. He kept them spellbound with his stories, some photos and a 30-minute video.

Filmed by the crew of one of the Athabaskan's Sea King helicopters as a routine visual diary of their missions, this video showed scenes of such destruction that it was hard to comprehend. There were gutted Kuwait City houses and factories; suburbs empty of people but full of missile launching sites, abandoned Iraqi tanks buried to the turret in the sand, and cement-lined trenches constructed to defend against infantry attack; planes on the airport tarmac whose airframes had melted after a rocket explosion; and sunken merchant tanker wrecks, still leaking oil into the calm Gulf waters.

John's photos showed scenes of life on board Athabaskan, some close-up views of several very large U.S. aircraft carriers, the W.W.II-era battleship, U.S.S. Iowa, and the brand new cruiser, U.S.S. Princeton, shown settling at the stern, having been disabled by an Iraqi acoustic mine.

The shipboard routine had to be adjusted to deal with the appalling atmospheric conditions. The photos illustrate the dense smog caused by the burning Kuwaiti oil fields. The pollution was so bad that crew members standing watch or working on deck needed to wear masks in order to safely carry out their duties. Filters on the air intake vents for Athabaskan's gas turbine engines, originally fitted to cleanse the incoming air of sand, were black with tarry residue from the brown Gulf air.

Such an opportunity comes a teacher's way once in a blue moon. It would be indecent to be thankful that a war happened. However, there is some good which can be found in the worst experience. To name four, my classes are now better motivated to learn more about Middle East politics. My students now realize that Canada's membership in a successful United Nations doesn't just require flashy debate in conferences and paying the fee; it means occasionally putting the lives of young Canadians on the line. Writing letters to John van Nostrand allowed these students to interact with world events in a personal way enabling them to dissipate the tensions which developed from viewing the nightly news. Finally, we tried, in a modest way, to honour an Andean who was doing an extremely important job for Canada and who, because of it, was far from home for a very long time.

DEBATING UPDATE

Debating admittedly attracts a certain type of student: reflective, feisty, and determined – ready to stand and be counted whatever the issue. This fact very likely explains the success of the program at St. Andrew's.

This year, with James Morgan as president, John Morrissey alongside to assist in preparation for the Fulfords, and stalwarts like Ian Michael and Paul Arhanic to break in new recruits, there was the necessary esprit de corps. When the dust had settled at the end of May, about 60 boys had participated in 18 different events at home and as far afield as Victoria. A crop of ten novice debaters had been initiated into the sacred mysteries of actual debate – even with females as the occasion required!

The invitationals with BSS and CDS were great successes. Naturally, the Fulfords were of central importance. Outstanding work was done by our Head Prefect, Scott Mahaffy – 2nd place senior division at UTS in April, Ryan Lawlor – 4th place junior division at Branksome in February and Leo Arhanic – 4th place junior division at TCS in September. Much solid experience was gained, especially by Leo Arhanic, who competed in all three events, twice as a junior and once in the senior division. Jonathan Hood, a first time competitor, rendered signal service in rounds two and three.

In the special events category there were notables as well. Allan Best, Ian Michael, and Elyot Waller attended the Independent Schools' International Public Speaking contest in Victoria in October. They did well in debate but better in billet! Their hostess was so impressed with their rhetorical prowess and gentlemanly deportment that she despatched boxes of giant homemade chocolate cookies to Aurora to assuage the pain of a return to the Gulag! Or there was the passionate Heron, who, deep in debate with Bishop Strachan's finest ladies, launched his keys at the adversary and garnered the Morgan prize for the most violent debater.

For the second year in a row, Allan Best, ably assisted by Elyot Waller, jawed his way to the top in the Regional Bilingual Tournament. Best and Ryan McNally went on to represent S.A.C. at the Provincials in Hamilton.

The talents and commitment of many faithful members have enabled St. Andrew's to remain a formidable influence in debating circles. Many thanks are owing this year to those who, like Messrs. Ray, Morrissey and Morgan, have quietly lent their unflagging support to this activity.

Annual Giving Report
1990 – 1991

Old Boys' Annual Giving

On behalf of Charlie Edwards '70, Chairman of the Old Boys Annual Giving Program, we are happy to report that the total for 1991 exceeded $152,000 for only the second time in history, and finished the year ended June 30 with an increase over the prior year which recorded $145,000.

Seven hundred and ninety-six Old Boys participated this year. We continue to chase that elusive 1,000 donor year, but feel that it is just around the corner!

We are also in the final stages of receiving capital pledges for the expansion to the athletic facilities which were officially opened at Homecoming last fall.

After three highly successful years as Chairman of the Old Boy section, Charlie has "retired" and moved to the U.S. where he has opened an advertising agency. On behalf of the year reps who work on our behalf, I thank Charlie for his hard work and for his unwavering loyalty to S.A.C.

Dear Jim,

I would like my name on a wall tile in the Pool area. My wish has a story. Aside from being on the S.A.C. Swim Team, I was a member of a small unique band of students who, under the stimulation of Glen Griffiths (our Athletic Director), formed the first Royal Life Saving Lifeguard Cadet Corps.

Among other things we invited local boys from Aurora to come to the School to be trained in the RLSS Bronze Life Saving Program. One that I trained went to Boy Scout Camp the next summer and did save a life!

In that same year we produced sufficient awards of the Society to receive the Cochrane Cup (Ontario Branch). I had the honour of receiving the Cup on behalf of the School at the presentation ceremony.

When I arrived at U of T, Grif was Head of the new PHE Department. When he retired as Ontario Branch President after a term of twenty years, I succeeded him. From this position I participated in the development of the Royal Life Saving Society Canada, an independent Society in association with the Royal Life Saving Society (Commonwealth). I am now a Past President of RLSSC and a Vice President of the RLSS Commonwealth.

This is a brief outline of an activity I have devoted a significant part of my life to, and it all started in the S.A.C. old pool!

Dear Jim,

Dear to my heart is the article in the spring Andean excerpted from the 1950 Review concerning the late T.B.D. Tudball. Everything that is said of Tuddy's character - his high moral and ethical standards - is manifestly true in my experience.

During my final year at St. Andrew's Gord Middleton and I were Tuddy's prefects in Flavelle House. Believe me that was quite an experience!

On several occasions in the course of the School year, Gord and I were invited to share tea with Tuddy and his charming wife. We found both to be gracious hosts given to interesting and stimulating conversation.

Some people may be of the opinion that Tuddy ran Flavelle House all by himself. Nothing could be further from the truth. It is true that his "firm but kindly rule" with its emphasis on discipline was all-pervasive, but he possessed a wonderful knack for delegating authority. He trusted Gord and me implicitly and we never betrayed that trust. With his blessing we assumed responsibility for many of the day-to-day activities in the House. He asked only that we bring him up-to-date from time to time. We did our best to uphold his standard of firm but fair discipline.

I saw Tuddy a number of times after I left S.A.C. and always found him to be warm, cordial and remembering. I should like to donate to Willy Triest's T.B.D. Tudball account. I remember Willy very well and believe me he is one great guy!

*Sincere best wishes,

Dear Editor;

I am an Andean from way back. I started in 1949 and left in Lower Sixth in 1953. It was the most important "building block" of my initial education. It stands out as one of the most important highlights of my life.

It is nice looking back into the past. But, as I read in the obituary column the names of Andy Crosbie and Harry Yuill, it saddened me. Rest in Peace, Pat Hannan, one of the best friends I ever had at S.A.C.

I remember with fondness Helmut Bickenbach, Alfredo Garcia, Johnny Vaughan and Richie and Harry, Willie Crane, Ariel Silva, Oechsle, Novak, Roberts, Willie Frith, and so many more ... What wonderful school days in Aurora! I regret not to have kept track of my school friends.

I recall many anecdotes of many masters. Kenny Ketchum at choir practice in the chapel. Mr. Tudball's reading of Oliver Twist, with voice imitations of the different characters. Duke MacFarlane's anger when we got out of hand in Flavelle House. I still recall the laughter and the caning. Others ran around the quad at "high-port" with vintage First World War rifles. Mr. Garstang, such a fine classic scholar, the poor man thought we terrorized him for getting poor grades in Latin and Greek. Many may also remember the beautiful Miss Flowers we had as a nurse. The first week both Flavelle and Memorial Houses were flooding the Infirmary with cases of "prolonged sickness"!

Congratulations on so many keen initiatives. I'll see what I can muster up to contribute to so many wonderful plans of advancement.

Yours sincerely,

Gonzalo Gutierrez Uribe '55.

Old Boys' Annual Giving

Dear Jim:

While I give what I feel I can every year I have long felt there must be a simple, inexpensive way to do more. I have thought about it but never acted until now.

Here's the deal: I am asking the School to accept ownership of the attached life insurance contract. It's costing me $24.00 per month but the School stands to reap considerably greater benefits when something happens to me. While you don't get cash upfront from this, you are guaranteed a specified amount come "hell or high water" - and that's everything! And the premiums are tax deductible to me!

This kind of 'planned giving' is something I will mention to others. I know you will do the same. If I can help motivate others, have them call me.

I trust the above arrangements are satisfactory.

Sincerely,

Andrew J. Kilpatrick '75

Parents' Annual Giving

PARENT ANNUAL GIVING REPORT

Annual Giving to St. Andrew's increased substantially this year due mainly to the introduction of The S.A.C. Fund which replaced the former parent annual giving appeal.

This past year, which ended on June 30, parents contributed $206,000 to the S.A.C. Fund with their donations earmarked for specific purposes. Projects undertaken included: a new lighting system for Ketchum Auditorium, residence improvements, new furniture for our day boy common rooms and the first step in wiring the campus with fibre optic cable for our exciting Local Area Network computer project.

In addition, another $9,000 was received for other annual purposes, bringing the total Parents' Annual Giving to $215,000.

On behalf of David Dunlap, Chairman of The S.A.C. Foundation, who is both a parent and graduate, and the Trustees of the Foundation, we express sincere thanks to all of those who helped make The S.A.C. Fund a great success in its inaugural year.

1990-91 Endowment Report

Endowment Update

Capital additions to the endowment funds this year from bequests, life insurance and the gift of the McLaughlin Foundation totalled over $408,000.

Endowment funds established in recent years have been added to by Old Boys and friends. The Dick Gibb Scholarship Fund now stands at $143,000 and The James H. Hamilton Scholarship at $80,000. Contributions to the newly established T.B.D. Tudball Fund total $5,300.

In addition we are indebted to Colonel Frederick A. Tilston V.C. who has endowed the Tilston Awards which "honour the boys who, in the opinion of their teachers, have set the best example in their class for effort, persistency and tenacity in their studies and in all other school activities."

The Philip Morton Scholarship

The late Philip A. Morton, S.A.C. 1919-24, left a most generous bequest in his will which was settled recently. Mr. Morton passed away in 1986 and his wife Berthe died in August 1990.

As a result, the school is the beneficiary of THE PHILIP MORTON SCHOLARSHIP which is endowed and will be awarded in perpetuity.

Mr. Morton's words are "to be used for the education of any student or students of the College, not necessarily academically gifted, who, in the opinion of the Board, on the recommendation of the Headmaster, are in need and worthy of assistance".

St. Andrew's College awarded this scholarship for the first time on Prize Day 1991.

We are indebted to the Old Boys and friends of the school who honour us with their bequests and their gifts of life insurance, large and small.

Giving Pays

A charitable gift annuity can help maintain your retirement income while also helping a cherished charitable cause. Like a regular annuity, it will provide you with a fixed income for life from an initial investment. And in the meantime, you may benefit from some attractive tax advantages.

Here are some of the benefits:

- * Your desire to leave money to a charity will be carried out.
- * You can further direct that your donation be used to fund only specific activities of the organization.
- * Your bequest will not form part of your estate; it cannot be held up in probate.
- * Exclusion of the bequest from your estate could also save on legal fees and administration expenses.
- * You will be able to receive an income, all or a portion of which will be tax-free for your lifetime. This is covered in Interpretation Bulletin IT111R from Revenue Canada.
- * St. Andrew's College Foundation is a registered charity with Revenue Canada.
- * For further information please contact Jim Herder at (416) 841-8999.

George Mann

"... although not an old boy of the School, George followed the English cricket matches faithfully. It was always his desire to leave a legacy to assist a fine school like St. Andrew's which taught the game he loved so much. He was just a hard working man who had little time in the war years for an education and was a strong competitor who played the game proudly every Sunday, often on the beautiful grounds of St. Andrew's ..."

THE McLAUGHLIN FOUNDATION

St. Andrew's College Foundation was the recipient of a magnificent gift of $250,000 from The McLaughlin Foundation.

Colonel R. Samuel McLaughlin, the founder of an automobile manufacturing enterprise (now General Motors of Canada Limited), was a great believer in independent education.

In 1972 The McLaughlin Foundation gave the School the leadership gift, and made possible the building of The McLaughlin Science Building.

The Board of Governors of the School has directed that the $250,000 be added to the endowment funds of the S.A.C. Foundation. Income from the endowment fund is dedicated to scholarships and bursaries for deserving students.

The Andrean, on behalf of the students who will benefit now and in the future, would like to express sincere thanks to the Trustees of the McLaughlin Foundation.

DEATHS

'26 Frederick W. Miller passed away July 21, 1990, at the age of 84, in Toronto, Ontario.

'46 Ronald Armstrong MacKinnon passed away in Toronto on March 19, 1991 after a long illness.

While attending S.A.C. Ron was a Librarian, Sports Editor for The Review and was well remembered as Abby Brewster in the Upper School play Arsenic and Old Lace.

He served St. Andrew's as President of the S.A.C. Association 1960-62.

Ron was an investment advisor with Burns Fry for many years.

He leaves his wife Jane, children Janet & David, and nephews Jim '69 & Andy Ballard '71.

'78 Dwight Zonnenberg died at the age of 32 in a car accident on June 20, 1991, in Waterdown, Ontario. He was a self-employed contractor for residential construction. Dwight leaves his wife and sons Tyler & Dustin, ages 3 & 4, his parents and brother Roger '81. He was fun-loving, generous to others, and loved nature. His recreation was salmon fishing near Vancouver Island.

'23 Kendall Home visited the School recently to donate his First Team Cricket photos from 1921-22 to the Archives.

He was reminiscing about the big snowstorm which paralyzed Toronto on December 11, 1944 and nothing was moving and no one was able to go to work. Kendall skiied down Church Street to his office. He gained a certain notoriety at the time but didn't think much of his feat because he previously lived six miles outside of Minden and thought nothing of regularly skiing into town for supplies.

Kendall also made it into Ripley's Believe It Or Not. He named his first boys after the gods of the week and ended up having seven sons in a row!

His fondest memory of St. Andrew's when it was located in Rosedale was a Sports Day held at Varsity Stadium in 1920. St. Andrew's was housed at Knox College at the time because the School was being used as a military hospital. Kendall was in his first year in the Upper School and competing in his first race. When the gun went off he fell to the ground and hit his head on the track. Dazed, he got up and found himself running in the wrong direction. He turned and saw the other runners some distance ahead. "I must have been inspired or else tips I got from a book I had read on racing must have worked.

When I won the race the nearest runner was at the other side of the track with an eighth of a mile to go."

Kendall has been retired for some years and is living near Claremont, Ontario.

'24 John Dymont is one of 73 Canadians to be honoured with this year's Order of Canada. Jack attended St. Andrew's when the School was still in Rosedale. He studied engineering at the University of Toronto and eventually became Chief Engineer for Air Canada, a position he held for over thirty years. In 1964, he was elected President of the Society of Automotive Engineers in the U.S.A. with 40,000 members in eighty countries and is the only foreigner ever elected.

Jack has held many prestigious positions and won many awards, and is a member of Canada's Aviation Hall of Fame and one of the first forty Fellows of the Canadian Academy of Engineering.

The Andrean salutes Jack Dymont!

'27 Bert Barber, retired from the University of Waterloo for the past 16 years, recently had two awards named after him. In 1982 The Albert Sherwood Barber Award was established by the University to recognize the most outstanding record of a graduating student in the co-op education program. A similar award was established in 1983 by the Canadian

Old Boys' News

Association for Co-operative Education for an individual making a significant contribution to co-operative education. Bert recently donated some team photos from his days at St. Andrew's and a 1926 Christmas card to the Archives.

'30 John Laing lives in Victoria, B.C., from April to November each year, and in Santa Barbara, California, for the remainder.

'32 Scott Montgomery spends six months at his "permanent Canadian base" in Peterborough, Ontario. The other six months are spent at Cape Cod where the Montgomery family has spent the past 36 summers. Scott regrets being unable to be with his Andrean friends at the Old Boys' Dinner in May, but says the ocean and long gardening seasons at Cape Cod are irresistible. He sends "congratulations to all the people who continue to make St. Andrew's the great School it is".

Bill Neal '34 dropped in to say hello in April on his way home to St. John's from Florida.

'33 Arthur Gladman retired after more than fifty years practising medicine. Arthur and his wife celebrated 50 years of marriage last December. They live in Oakland, California.

'37 Warren Soper retired a few years ago from Dominion Securities Pitfield where he was Vice President. Warren wrote The Andrean that he keeps busy with his corporate interests, golf, fishing and oil painting. He lives in Lachute, Quebec, in the summer and Delray Beach, Florida, in the winter. He enjoyed reading John Mitchell's account in the last Andrean of the siren bomb incident which brought back a very pleasant memory!

'41 John Kilpatrick and his wife Jean spent five weeks travelling in England & Scotland following their wedding April 12, 1991.

'43 Martyn Livingston visited the school in April for the first time in many years. Following his year at St. Andrew's, Martyn went into the Canadian navy and then into the oil boiler business with his father. Following a period of time when he imported European car washes into Canada, he spent many years in the Caribbean in underwater business. Martyn and his wife Norma have three children; John, a theoretical physicist, Christine who is married and living in Texas, and Sheila who is at university.

Bredin Stapells '42 is retired and living in Bermuda.

'44 Charles Eddis and his wife Nancy, a Havergal Old Girl, visited the school in July while visiting from Montreal. Charles last visited S.A.C. in 1969. He attended St. Andrew's from 1937-44 and his name appears on many of our honour boards in the Library.

Old Boys' News

Tony Stapells held an exhibition of his bronze sculptures at 291 Gallery on Spadina Avenue in Toronto last May. Tony has been President of the Toronto Chapter of The Ontario Archaeological Society since 1989.

'51 David Gallagher writes that he feels the connection between lasting family businesses and St. Andrew's is not by chance, rather the "good education centered on character building" plays a major role.

David co-founded CAFE, The Canadian Association of Family Enterprise, in 1984. It has grown across Canada to include eight chapters and over 600 company members (2,000 people). David's father "Shiner" Gallagher '18 at age 91 is one of the school's oldest Old Boys.

Bill Somers has been appointed a Judge on the Ontario Court's General Division by the Federal Justice Minister. Bill has been in private practice in Toronto for many years. One of his partners was Graham Dutton '54.

Jacobo (Jake) Mizrahi and Jim Wyse met in Mexico having been 'paired up' on the tennis court. Jim didn't report who won the match!

Jim Wyse writes from Vancouver: "I hope you enjoy the following anecdote. It proves once again the nature of the lasting relationships we have all developed during our years at S.A.C."

"My wife and I have just returned from a two week vacation at a Club Med located in Huatulco, Mexico. On our last day at the resort, my wife, another lady and I went down for our regular morning tennis session, but because we were a threesome, I was asked by the pro if I would play with a gentleman who had just arrived from Mexico City ... The visitor told me his name was Jacobo (pronounced "Hacobo"). I told him that I had only known one other "Hacobo" in my life, and his name was "Hacobo" Mizrahi from Venezuela ..."

"At this point I asked him where he went to school, and of course it was St. Andrew's College. What an amazing coincidence! ..."

"I certainly didn't recognize Jake at first, after all it has only been 36 years since we saw each other last. 'Jake' Mizrahi sat directly across the aisle from me in grade 9 (Jack Wright, Latin/Math; Hugh Warburton, English; etc.). We played cricket and football together."

"After S.A.C., Jake completed his schooling in the USA, and returned to Venezuela. En route, he married his wife Paz in Mexico, and in 1968 the family moved from Caracas to Mexico City where they now live. They have 3 children."

'67 Scott Marshall has been promoted to General Manager, Catalogue Sales Division of Sears Canada. Scott was formerly General Manager of SLH Transport, another Sears subsidiary. Scott will have the operating responsibility for Catalogue sales of over $500 million and is headquartered in Belleville, Ontario.

'68 Tom Butterfield has been instrumental in creating The Masterworks Foundation in Bermuda. The Foundation was established to locate, purchase and return Bermudian works of art to the island from other countries. The works in the collection range from Royal Naval topographical drawings of the 1800's to oils and watercolours by such well-known artists as Charles Demuth, Ogden Pleissner and Jack Bush.

During the late eighteen and early nineteen hundreds, many budding and already famous artists from Canada and the east coast of the United States went to Bermuda. They went to relax and escape the rigours of winter in harsher climes, or because they truly found Bermuda to be an artist's paradise. Between them they produced a wealth of paintings that today are valuable reflections of a Bermuda that has largely vanished.

Eventually it is hoped to build or renovate a location to house the artworks for the benefit of all Bermudians.

Tom has a unique way of raising funds for this project. He runs marathon races and obtains sponsorship from over three hundred interested individuals and corporations. In April he competed in his third London Marathon and realized a total of $50,000. A painting has been added to the collection as the result of each marathon.

Tom was awarded the Canada Council Grant for the Arts before returning to Bermuda in 1980.
